The thirteen tribes and the twenty six kindnesses

מוֹצָאֵי שַׁבַּת קֹדֶשׁ מִקֵּץ, ה׳ דַּחֲנֻכָּה, בְּרָכַת ה' הִיא תַּעֲשִׁיר. — After the holy Shabbat of Parashat Mikeitz, on the fifth night of Chanukah: "The blessing of Hashem is what brings wealth."

The thirteen tribes and the attributes of mercy

כִּי שִׁלְשָׁה עָשָׂר שְׁבָטִים שֶׁעִם מְנַשֶּׁה וְאֶפְרַיִם הֵם נֶגֶד שִׁלֹּשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה מִדּוֹת שֶׁל רַחֲמִים,[1] — For the thirteen tribes, counting Manasseh and Ephraim, correspond to the thirteen attributes of mercy. כִּי כָּל אֶחָד יֵשׁ לוֹ עִנְיָן קְדוּשָׁה [שֶׁל דְּבֵקוּת בַּהַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ, דְּ"הִדָּבֵק בְּמִדּוֹתָיו", כְּמוֹ שֶׁאָמְרוּ בְּסוֹטָה (י״ד עַמּוּד א׳)] בִּפְנֵי עַצְמוֹ שֶׁיֵּשׁ בּוֹ מְשָׁרְשׁוֹ;[2] — Each has its own distinct aspect of holiness, inherent in its root: attachment to Hashem, blessed be He, through "cleaving to His attributes," as the Sages say in Sotah 14a. וְכָל אֶחָד כָּלוּל מִשְּׁנַיִם — Each is also composed of two aspects.

Yaakov and the balanced middle path

כִּי הֵם זֶרַע יַעֲקֹב, קַו הָאֶמְצָעִי הַכָּלוּל מֵחֶסֶד וּגְבוּרָה, וְכָל דָּבָר יֵשׁ בּוֹ עַל כָּרְחוֹ שְׁנֵי קְצוֹת אֵלּוּ, וְקַו אֶמְצָעִי הוּא הַמְחַבְּרָן וּמְאַחֲדָן לְהִתְנַהֵג בְּכָל קָצֶה בַּמָּקוֹם הָרָאוּי לוֹ, וְלֹא לְנָטוֹת לְצַד אֶחָד בְּיוֹתֵר, רַק לִהְיוֹת הַכֹּל [בְּשִׁוּוּי וְכָל דָּבָר כְּפִי הַצֹּרֶךְ, וְזֶהוּ דֶּרֶךְ הַמֶּמֶצַע];[3,4] — For they are Jacob's descendants; he is the middle line that includes both Chesed, lovingkindness, and Gevurah, restraint. Everything necessarily has

1 Shiur discussion: Thirteen middle blessings — The weekday Amidah now has thirteen middle blessings. Berakhot 28b:20–23 asks why the eighteen are in fact nineteen and explains that Birkat HaMinim was instituted in Yavneh. Megillah 17b–18a explains the sequence of the blessings, ending with service, thanksgiving, and peace. The suggested correspondence between these thirteen requests, the tribes, and the thirteen attributes of mercy is presented in the shiur as a further connection; these passages do not establish a one-to-one mapping.

Berakhot 28b:20-23 — תָּנוּ רַבָּנָן: שִׁמְעוֹן הַפְּקוֹלִי הִסְדִּיר שְׁמוֹנֶה עֶשְׂרֵה בְּרָכוֹת לִפְנֵי רַבָּן גַּמְלִיאֵל עַל הַסֶּדֶר בְּיַבְנֶה. אָמַר לָהֶם רַבָּן גַּמְלִיאֵל לַחֲכָמִים: כָּלוּם יֵשׁ אָדָם שֶׁיּוֹדֵעַ לְתַקֵּן בִּרְכַּת הַמִּינִים? עָמַד שְׁמוּאֵל הַקָּטָן וְתִקְּנָהּ. — "Shimon HaPakuli arranged eighteen blessings in order before Rabban Gamliel in Yavneh … Shmuel HaKatan arose and instituted it [Birkat HaMinim]."

2 Sotah 14a:4 — "One is to follow the attributes of the Holy One, blessed be He. Just as He clothes those who are naked —as it is written, 'Hashem God made garments of skin for Adam and his wife and clothed them' (Genesis 3:21)—so should you clothe those who are naked. The Holy One, blessed be He, visited the sick, as it is written, 'Hashem appeared to him in the plains of Mamre' (Genesis 18:1); so should you visit the sick. He comforted mourners, as it is written, 'After Abraham's death, God blessed Isaac his son' (Genesis 25:11); so should you comfort mourners. He buried the dead, as it is written, 'He buried him in the valley' (Deuteronomy 34:6); so should you bury the dead."

3 Mei HaShiloach I, Bamidbar 6 — The Ishbitzer explains the tribal encampments: "Each individual stood in the place appropriate to his root and recognized his place." He gives Judah as an example: although the tribe appeared to possess anger, Hashem testifies that "his anger is full of generosity." He concludes that Hashem bestowed a distinct light and vitality upon each tribe, "and no one's portion resembles his fellow's." This makes the present discussion concrete: a distinctive power finds its holiness through its proper place and direction, rather than through its outward appearance alone.

4 Shiur discussion: The middle path — Rambam gives the two passages mentioned in the shiur: Hilkhot De'ot 1:4–7 and Shemonah Perakim, chapter 4. This is a parallel in the discipline of character; Rav Tzadok's explanation of Yaakov and the tribes is his own account here.

Eight Chapters 4 — המעשים הטובים הם המעשים השווים הממוצעים בין שתי קצוות ששתיהן רע, האחת מהן תוספות, והשנית חסרון, והמעלות הן תכונות נפשיות וקנינים ממוצעים בין שתי תכונות רעות, האחת מהן יתירה והאחרת חסרה, מן התכונות האלה יתחייבו הפעולות ההם, — "Good actions are balanced actions midway between two extremes, both of which are bad: one through excess and the other through deficiency. Virtues are qualities of the soul and dispositions midway between two bad qualities."

these two extremes. The middle line joins and unites them, so that each extreme is employed where it belongs, without inclining excessively to either side. Rather, everything must remain in balance, with each quality applied as needed. This is the balanced middle way.

Twenty-six kindnesses before the giving of the Torah

וְנֶגְדָּם עֶשְׂרִים וְשִׁשָּׁה "כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ", הַחֲסָדִים שֶׁהִשְׁפִּיעַ הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ בְּעוֹלָמוֹ[5] — Corresponding to them are the twenty-six repetitions of "for His lovingkindness endures forever": the acts of kindness that Hashem, blessed be He, bestowed upon His world. [עַל יְדֵי הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת שֶׁבִּשְׁבָטֵי יָ"הּ שֶׁהוּא שֹׁרֶשׁ הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת דְּיִשְׂרָאֵל שֶׁבִּשְׁבִילָם הָיָה כָּל הַבְּרִיאָה. — These come through the forms of holiness within the tribes of Hashem, which are the root of Israel's holiness; all creation came into being for their sake. וּבְפֶרֶק עַרְבֵי פְּסָחִים (קי״ח עמוד א׳) אָמְרוּ דְּהֵם נֶגֶד עֶשְׂרִים וְשִׁשָּׁה דּוֹרוֹת שֶׁעַד מַתַּן תּוֹרָה שֶׁנָּהַג הָעוֹלָם בָּהֶם,[6,7] — In the chapter Arvei Pesachim, Pesachim 118a, the Sages say that these correspond to the twenty-six generations before the giving of the Torah, when He sustained the world through His lovingkindness. כִּי בְּמַתַּן תּוֹרָה נִתְקַדְּשָׁה כָּל הָאָמָּה הַיִּשְׂרְאֵלִית וְנִתְפַּשְּׁטוּ כָּל קְדֻשַּׁת הַשְּׁבָטִים כֻּלָּם בְּכָל אֶחָד מִיִּשְׂרָאֵל בְּפָרְט בְּהִתְגַּלּוּת וְהֵם עִקַּר הָעוֹלָם; — For at the giving of the Torah the entire Israelite nation was sanctified. The holiness of all the tribes became openly present within each individual Israelite, and they are the essential purpose of the world. וּמִקֹּדֶם בְּכָל דּוֹר וָדוֹר הָיוּ גַּם כֵּן צַדִּיקִים, אוֹ עַל כָּל פָּנִים צַדִּיק אֶחָד יְסוֹד עוֹלָם שֶׁעָלָיו הָעוֹלָם הָיָה עוֹמֵד וּמִתְקַיֵּם, — Before this, too, there were certainly righteous people in every generation, or at least one righteous person who was the foundation of the world, upon whom the world stood and through whom it endured.

רַק שֶׁזֶּה הָיָה בְּחַסְדּוֹ מַה שֶּׁהַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ הָיָה שׁוֹלֵחַ אֵיזֶה נִיצוֹץ קָדוֹשׁ כָּל דּוֹר לְצֹרֶךְ קִיּוּם הָעוֹלָם כְּפִי הָרָאוּי לְאוֹתוֹ דּוֹר, קְדֻשָּׁה אַחַת מֵאוֹתָן עֶשְׂרִים וְשִׁשָּׁה קְדֻשּׁוֹת שֶׁזָּכוּ אַחַר כָּךְ יִשְׂרָאֵל בְּמַתַּן תּוֹרָה לְכֻלָּם.[8] — Yet this itself was an act of His lovingkindness: in every generation Hashem, blessed be He, would send a holy spark suited to sustaining the world in that generation. It possessed one of those twenty-six forms of holiness, all of which Israel later attained at the giving of the Torah. וְתִשְׁעָה "כִּי לְעוֹלָם חַסְדּוֹ" הָרִאשׁוֹנִים הֵם הַחֲסָדִים וְשָׁרְשֵׁי הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת דִּקְבוּעָה וְקַיָּמָא בִּבְרִיאַת עוֹלָם, שֶׁהוּא מִצַּד הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ לְבַד. — The first nine repetitions of "for His lovingkindness endures forever" are the acts of kindness and roots of holiness fixed and established in the creation of the world, originating from Hashem, blessed be He, alone.

5 Psalms 136:14–15 — "He caused Israel to pass through its midst, for His lovingkindness endures forever. He cast Pharaoh and his army into the Sea of Reeds, for His lovingkindness endures forever." These are two of the psalm's twenty-six refrains.

6 Pesachim 118a:4 — Rabbi Yehoshua ben Levi said: "To what do these twenty-six expressions of thanksgiving correspond? To the twenty-six generations that the Holy One, blessed be He, brought into His world without giving them the Torah, sustaining them through His lovingkindness." The generations run from Adam through the giving of the Torah: ten to Noah, ten from Noah to Abraham, and six thereafter—Isaac, Jacob, Levi, Kehat, Amram, and Moses.

7 Shiur discussion: Adam's prayer before the rain — Rashi supplies the specific source for the shiur's observation that Adam prayed before the vegetation emerged. The extension from this passage to tefillah's relationship with the twenty-six generations is a suggestion in the shiur.

Rashi on Genesis 2:5:2 — כי לא המטיר. ומ"ט לא הִמְטִיר? לְפִי שֶׁאָדָם אֵין לַעֲבֹד אֶת הָאֲדָמָה, וְאֵין מַכִּיר בְּטוֹבָתָם שֶׁל גְּשָׁמִים, וּכְשֶׁבָּא אָדָם וְיָדַע שֶׁהֵם צֹרֶךְ לָעוֹלָם, הִתְפַּלֵּל עֲלֵיהֶם וְיָרְדוּ וְצָמְחוּ הָאִילָנוֹת וְהַדְּשָׁאִים: — "When Adam came and recognized that the world needed rain, he prayed for it; it descended, and the trees and grasses grew."

8 Shiur discussion: The 974 generations and the worlds — Two teachings were brought together in the discussion. Chagigah 13b:14–14a:1 speaks of 974 generations that were to have been created before the world but were not created, and were planted throughout later generations. Bereshit Rabbah 3:7 speaks separately of creating worlds and destroying them. The latter passage does not state the number 974. Thus "974 worlds were destroyed" should not be treated as the wording of either source.

Bereshit Rabbah 3:7 — אָמַר רַבִּי יְהוּדָה בַּר סִימוֹן, יְהִי עֶרֶב אֵין כְּתִיב כָּאן, אֶלָּא וַיְהִי עֶרֶב, מִכָּאן שֶׁהָיָה סֵדֶר זְמַנִּים קֹדֶם לָכֵן. אָמַר רַבִּי אַבָּהוּ מְלַמֵּד שֶׁהָיָה בּוֹרֵא עוֹלָמוֹת וּמַחֲרִיבָן, עַד שֶׁבָּרָא אֶת אֵלּוּ, אָמַר דֵּין הַנָּיִן לִי, יִתְהוֹן לָא הַנָּיִן לִי. — "Rabbi Abbahu said: This teaches that He created worlds and destroyed them, until He created these; He said: These please Me; those did not please Me."

Noach and the unrealized Matan Torah

וְהָעֲשִׂירִי הוּא "לְמַכֵּה מִצְרַיִם" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:י׳], שֶׁזֶּהוּ הַתְחָלַת בִּנְיַן אֻמָּה הַיִּשְׂרְאֵלִית בִּיצִיאַת מִצְרַיִם עַל יְדֵי צַעֲקָתָם לְהַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ;[9] — The tenth is "To Him who struck Egypt" (Psalms 136:10). This is the beginning of the formation of the Israelite nation at the Exodus from Egypt, through their crying out to Hashem, blessed be He. וְזֶהוּ גֶּדֶר דּוֹר הַמַּבּוּל וְנֹחַ, שֶׁהוּא הָאֶחָד שֶׁנֶּאֱמַר בּוֹ "צַדִּיק תָּמִים" וְ"צַדִּיק לְפָנַי", שֶׁהִתְחִיל בְּהִשְׁתַּדְּלוּתוֹ לִהְיוֹת יְסוֹד עוֹלָם. — This corresponds to the generation of the Flood and to Noah. He was the one described as "a righteous, wholehearted man" and "righteous before Me," and he began, through his own effort, to become a foundation of the world. וְדוֹר הַמַּבּוּל אָמְרוּ בַּזֹּהַר הַקָּדוֹשׁ שֶׁהָיָה רָאוּי לִהְיוֹת תּוֹרָה (חֵלֶק ג׳ רט״ז ר״ש עַמּוּד ב׳),[10] — Concerning the generation of the Flood, the holy Zohar, III, beginning of 216b, says that the giving of the Torah should have taken place then. זֶה מֹשֶׁה — "בְּשַׁגַּם" (קל״ט עַמּוּד ב׳): וְכֵן אָמְרוּ בְּחֻלִּין,[11] — Likewise, Chullin 139b teaches: "Beshagam"—this alludes to Moses. כִּי כְּבָר הִתְחִיל הִתְעוֹרְרוּת בִּנְיַן כְּנֶסֶת יִשְׂרָאֵל וְהַתְחָלוֹת הִתְגַּלּוּת אוֹתָם הַנִּיצוֹצוֹת קְדוֹשׁוֹת בָּעוֹלָם, — For the stirring toward the formation of Knesset Yisrael, the congregation of Israel, and the beginnings of the revelation of those holy sparks in the world had already commenced.

אֶלָּא שֶׁנִּשְׁקְעוּ אָז עֲדַיִן בְּעִמְקֵי הַקְּלִפּוֹת עַד שֶׁאָבְדוּ בַּמַּבּוּל, וּבָאָה אַחַר כָּךְ לְגָלוּת מִצְרַיִם, כַּיָּדוּעַ שֶׁהֵם מֵאוֹתָם הַנְּפָשׁוֹת. — But they were still submerged in the depths of the kelipot, the shells of impurity, until they perished in the Flood. They subsequently came into the Egyptian exile, for, as is known, these were among those same souls.

Shem and Ever the concealed root of Yisrael

וְאַחַר כָּךְ "וַיּוֹצֵא יִשְׂרָאֵל מִתּוֹכָם" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:י״א], הִתְגַּלּוּת שֵׁם יִשְׂרָאֵל הוּא בְּשֵׁם בֶּן נֹחַ שֶׁהוּא הָאֶחָד שֶׁיִּחֵד הַקָּדוֹשׁ בָּרוּךְ הוּא שְׁמוֹ עָלָיו, שֶׁאָמַר הַכָּתוּב עָלָיו: "אֱלֹהֵי שֵׁם",[12] — Next comes "And brought Israel out from among them" (Psalms 136:11). The name Israel begins to be revealed in Shem, the son of Noah. — He is the individual with whom the Holy One, blessed be He, associated His Name, as Scripture says of him: "the God of Shem." וְכֵן עֵבֶר תַּלְמִידוֹ וַחֲבֵרוֹ בְּדוֹמֶה לוֹ שֶׁנִּזְכַּר בְּכַמָּה מְקוֹמוֹת בֵּית הַמִּדְרָשׁ שֶׁל שֵׁם וְעֵבֶר, וַיַּעֲקֹב אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם לָמַד אֶצְלָם, — Similarly, Eber, his disciple and colleague, was comparable to him. The study house of Shem and Eber is mentioned in several places, and our father Jacob, peace be upon him, studied with them. כִּי בָּהֶם כְּבָר הָיָה בְּהֶעְלֵם נִיצוֹץ קָדוֹשׁ מִשֹּׁרֶשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל שֶׁנִּתְגַּלָּה בְּיַעֲקֹב; — For a holy spark from the root of Israel, which was revealed in Jacob, was already present within them in a concealed state. וְעַל כֵּן נֶגְדּוֹ הוּא "וְהֶעֱבִיר יִשְׂרָאֵל בְּתוֹכוֹ" [שָׁם קל״ו:י״ד], גַּם כֵּן נִזְכַּר שֵׁם יִשְׂרָאֵל, מַה שֶּׁלֹּא נִזְכַּר בִּשְׁאָר, כְּגוֹן "לְמוֹלִיךְ עַמּוֹ", לֹא אָמַר "לְמוֹלִיךְ

9 Psalms 136:10 — "To Him who struck Egypt through its firstborn, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

10 Zohar III, 216b; Pinchas 10:60 — The Zohar states: "The Sages further explained that Moses was destined to receive the Torah in the generation of the Flood, but this did not occur because they were wicked. This is what is written: 'Beshagam he is flesh' (Genesis 6:3); beshagam is Moses." This is the passage Rav Tzadok invokes; it concerns the unrealized giving of the Torah in that generation.

11 Chullin 139b:10; Rashi ad loc. — "Where is Moses alluded to in the Torah? 'Beshagam he is flesh' (Genesis 6:3)." Rashi explains that beshagam has the same numerical value as Moshe, Moses, and that the verse's continuation, "his days shall be one hundred and twenty years," corresponds to Moses' lifespan. The question concerns an allusion to Moses before his birth.

Bereishis 6:3 — וַיֹּאמֶר יְהוָה לֹא־יָדוֹן רוּחִי בָאָדָם לְעֹלָם בְּשַׁגַּם הוּא בָשָׂר וְהָיוּ יָמָיו מֵאָה וְעֶשְׂרִים שָׁנָה

Translation — Hashem said: My spirit shall not contend with man forever, since he too is flesh; his days shall be one hundred and twenty years.

Rashi on Chullin 139b — בשגם הוא - בגימטריא כמו משה וכתיב שם והיו ימיו מאה ועשרים שנה וכך היו ימי חיי משה כלומר עתיד לבא בשגם משה מן הנולדים וכן ימיו: — "Beshagam has the same numerical value as Moshe; the verse says that his days shall be one hundred and twenty years, and this was the length of Moshe's life."

12 Psalms 136:11 — "He brought Israel out from among them, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

יִשְׂרָאֵל".[13] — Corresponding to this is "And caused Israel to pass through its midst" (Psalms 136:14). Here, too, the name Israel is mentioned, unlike elsewhere—for example, "To Him who led His people," rather than "To Him who led Israel."

וּבְקְרִיעַת יַם סוּף אָז הָיָה הַהִתְגַּלּוּת דִּרְאִיָּה שֶׁרָאֲתָה שִׁפְחָה עַל הַיָּם וְכוּלֵי (מְכִילְתָּא וְזֹהַר הַקָּדוֹשׁ בְּשַׁלַּח), שֶׁזָּכוּ לָהּ אַחַר כָּךְ בְּמַתַּן תּוֹרָה בְּקִנְיָן כְּמוֹ שֶׁכָּתַבְתִּי בְּמָקוֹם אַחֵר;[14,15] — At the splitting of the Sea there was the revelation of the vision that even a maidservant beheld at the Sea, and so forth, as described in the Mekhilta and the holy Zohar, Beshalach. They subsequently attained this as an enduring acquisition at the giving of the Torah, as I have written elsewhere. וְעַל כֵּן אָמְרוּ (בְּרֵאשִׁית רַבָּה סוֹף פָּרָשָׁה לז): נָבִיא גָּדוֹל הָיָה עֵבֶר שֶׁקָּרָא שֵׁם בְּנוֹ פֶּלֶג,[16] — This is why Bereshit Rabbah, at the end of chapter 37, says that Eber was a great prophet, for he named his son Peleg. וְלֹא מָצִינוּ בַּכָּתוּב בְּפֵרוּשׁ נְבוּאָה בְּשֵׁם, נִרְאָה שֶׁבָּזֶה הָיָה עֵבֶר גָּדוֹל יוֹתֵר. — We do not, however, find prophecy explicitly ascribed to Shem in Scripture. It therefore appears that Eber was greater in this respect.

Avraham and the opposing shell of Og

וְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם שֶׁהוּא אָב וְהַתְחָלַת הָאָמָּה, עֶגֶד "וּלְעוֹג מֶלֶךְ הַבָּשָׁן" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:כ׳], שֶׁהוּא הַפָּלִיט מִדּוֹר הַמַּבּוּל (נִדָּה ס״א סוֹף עַמּוּד א׳) שֶׁבָּא לְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם,[17,18] — Our father Abraham, peace be upon him, the father and beginning of the nation, corresponds to "And Og, king of Bashan" (Psalms 136:20). Og was the survivor of the generation of the Flood, as stated at the end of Niddah 61a, who came to our father Abraham, peace be upon him. וְאָמְרוּ (בְּרֵאשִׁית רַבָּה סוֹף פָּרָשָׁה

13 Psalms 136:14 — "He caused Israel to pass through its midst, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

14 Mekhilta deRabbi Yishmael, Shirah 3:10, on Exodus 15:2 — Rabbi Eliezer explains "This is my God": "How do we know that a maidservant at the Sea saw what Isaiah and Ezekiel did not see? Scripture says, 'Through the prophets I speak in likenesses' (Hosea 12:11), and 'The heavens opened and I saw visions of God' (Ezekiel 1:1)." He compares this with a human king entering a province surrounded by guards, warriors, and troops: onlookers must ask which person is the king. "But when the Holy One, blessed be He, was revealed at the Sea, not one of them needed to ask who He was. As soon as they saw Him, they recognized Him; all opened their mouths and said, 'This is my God, and I shall glorify Him; my father's God, and I shall exalt Him.'"

15 Zohar, Beshalach 31:434 — Discussing Israel's question, "Is Hashem in our midst or not?" (Exodus 17:7), Rabbi Abba recalls that they had seen the Divine Presence before them and the clouds of glory surrounding them. They had seen "the radiance of their King's glory at the Sea," and "we have learned: a maidservant at the Sea saw what Ezekiel did not see." This is the Zohar's explicit parallel to the Mekhilta's statement; Rav Tzadok's account of the vision becoming an enduring acquisition at Sinai is his explanation in the main text.

16 Bereshit Rabbah 37:7 — On "To Eber were born two sons; the name of the one was Peleg, for in his days the earth was divided" (Genesis 10:25), Rabbi Yose ben Chalafta says: "Eber was a great prophet, for he gave a name corresponding to the event." The surrounding discussion explains that the earlier generations, who used prophetic inspiration, named children for events that would occur.

17 Psalms 136:20 — "And Og, king of Bashan, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

18 Niddah 61a:19–20 — Rabbi Yochanan said in the name of Rabbi Shimon ben Yochai: "From the answer given to that righteous man, you can know what was in his heart. He thought: Perhaps the merit of our father Abraham will stand on Og's behalf." The passage cites "The survivor came and told Abram the Hebrew" (Genesis 14:13), and Rabbi Yochanan identifies that survivor as Og, who escaped the generation of the Flood. His informing Abraham enabled the rescue of Lot.

שֶׁרָצָה שֶׁיֵּהָרֵג וְיִקַּח שָׂרָה, כִּי הוּא הָיָה חוֹשֵׁב עַצְמוֹ דְּגְמָתוֹ (מ״ב,[19,20] — The Sages say at the end of Bereshit Rabbah, chapter 42, that he wanted Abraham to be killed so that he could take Sarah. For he considered himself comparable to Abraham. דְּמַה שֶׁנִּפְלַט בְּדוֹר הַמַּבּוּל מִסְתָּמָא לֹא הָיָה בּוֹ שׁוּם חֵטְא שֶׁיִּהְיֶה נִתְפָּס עִמָּהֶם, דְּעַל כֵּן נִתְיָרֵא מֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם מִמֶּנּוּ; — Presumably, his survival of the Flood meant that he did not bear a sin that would have caused him to be overtaken along with the others. This is why Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, feared him.

The holiness Hashem sees in the heart

אֲבָל מִכָּל מָקוֹם לֹא הָיָה צַדִּיק לְפָנָיו יִתְבָּרַךְ שֶׁיִּזְכֶּה לַתֵּבָה כְּנֹחַ, כִּי ה' יִרְאֶה הָעִקָּר לַלֵּבָב, שֹׁרֶשׁ הַקְּדוּשָׁה שֶׁבַּלֵּב, — Nevertheless, he was not righteous before Hashem, blessed be He, so as to merit entering the Ark like Noah. For Hashem looks primarily to the heart, to the root of holiness within it: שֶׁיִּהְיֶה כַּוָּנָתוֹ לְשֵׁם שָׁמַיִם, נִמְנָע מִן הָרַע בִּשְׁבִיל יִרְאָתוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ וְעוֹשֶׂה הַטּוֹב לְאַהֲבָתוֹ וְהַכֹּל לְכְבוֹדוֹ וּלְקִלּוּסוֹ. — that a person's intention be for the sake of Heaven, refraining from evil out of fear of Him, blessed be He, and doing good out of love for Him, with everything directed to His honor and praise. וְהַתְחָלַת הִתְגַּלּוּת הַקְּדוּשָׁה שֶׁבַּלֵּב הָיָה אֵצֶל אַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, שֶׁהוּא שֹׁרֶשׁ כְּנֶסֶת יִשְׂרָאֵל, דְּ"חֵלֶק ה' עַמּוֹ", וְנֶאֱמַר "צוּר לִבָּבִי וְחֶלְקִי וְגוֹמֵר", — The holiness of the heart first began to be revealed in our father Abraham, peace be upon him, who is the root of Knesset Yisrael. For "Hashem's portion is His people," and it is said, "The Rock of my heart and my portion," and so forth. וְאָמְרוּ בְּשִׁיר הַשִּׁירִים רַבָּה עַל פָּסוּק "וְלִבִּי עֵר" דְּהַקָּדוֹשׁ בָּרוּךְ הוּא לִבָּם שֶׁל יִשְׂרָאֵל, — In Shir HaShirim Rabbah, on the verse "and my heart is awake," the Sages say that the Holy One, blessed be He, is the heart of Israel. וְעַל כֵּן אָמְרוּ (סַנְהֶדְרִין מ״ד עַמּוּד א׳) דְּאֲפִילּוּ חֵטְא — יִשְׂרָאֵל הוּא, שֶׁשֹּׁרֶשׁ דְּמַעֲמַקֵּי הַלֵּב לֹא נִתַּק

19 Bereshit Rabbah 42:8 — "'The survivor came and told Abram the Hebrew' (Genesis 14:13). Reish Lakish said in the name of Bar Kappara: This was Og, the survivor. Why was he called Og? He came and found Abraham occupied with the commandment of preparing cakes, ugot. He did not intend to act for the sake of Heaven. He thought: Abraham is zealous; if I tell him that his nephew has been captured, he will go to war, be killed, and I will take his wife Sarai. The Holy One, blessed be He, said: For the steps you took, you will be rewarded with a long life. But because you intended to kill that righteous man, you will see thousands upon thousands and myriads upon myriads of his descendants, and your end will be to fall into their hands—as it is written, 'Do not fear him ... into your hand' (Deuteronomy 3:2)." The Midrash then explains "Abram the Hebrew": Rabbi Yehudah says that the whole world stood on one side and Abraham on the other; Rabbi Nechemiah traces the title to Eber; the Sages explain that Abraham came from beyond the river and spoke Hebrew. On "the plains of Mamre," Rabbi Yehudah understands a place called Mamre, whereas Rabbi Nechemiah understands Mamre's residence. Rabbi Azaryah, in the name of Rabbi Yehudah in the name of Rabbi Simon, explains Mamre's distinction. When Abraham was commanded to circumcise himself, he consulted his three companions. Aner asked why a man of his age should cause himself pain. Eshkol warned against weakening himself among his enemies. Mamre answered that the God who had protected him in the furnace, the war with the kings, and the famine should certainly be obeyed in this command as well. God therefore promised that His appearance to Abraham would take place at Mamre's residence, not those of Aner or Eshkol: "Hashem appeared to him in the plains of Mamre" (Genesis 18:1).

20 Shiur discussion: Og and Eliezer — The identification mentioned in the shiur is an aggadic tradition in Tractate Soferim 21:9: "Og is Eliezer." Da'at Zekenim on Bereishis 24:39 discusses the difficulty: Eliezer is righteous and enters Gan Eden alive, whereas the wicked Og is slain by Moshe. It answers that there were two kings called Og, and that the kings of Bashan bore that title. The identification should therefore be cited with this qualification, rather than merging all traditions about Og into a single biography.

Tractate Soferim 21:9 — עוג הוא אליעזר — "Og is Eliezer."

מַהֲשִׁם יִתְבָּרֵךְ, וְהוּא נִקְרָא אָסָא דְּקָאֵי בֵּינֵי הוֹצֵי;[21,22,23] — Therefore Sanhedrin 44a teaches that even if a Jew has sinned, he remains Israel. The root in the depths of his heart has not been severed from Hashem, blessed be He; he is called “a myrtle standing among thorns.”

Torah flowing from Avraham

וְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם מִמֶּנּוּ הַתְחָלַת שְׁנֵי אֲלָפִים תּוֹרָה, שֶׁזָּכָה לִהְיוֹת שְׁתֵּי כְלָיוֹתָיו כִּשְׁנֵי מַעְיָנוֹת וְנוֹבְעוֹת תּוֹרָה (בְּרֵאשִׁית רַבָּה פָּרָשָׁה ס״א),[26] — The two thousand years of Torah begin with our father Abraham, peace be upon him. 21 Sanhedrin 44a — On “Israel has sinned” (Joshua 7:11), Rabbi Abba bar Zavda says: “Even though he has sinned, he is still Israel.” Rabbi Abba compares this with the familiar saying: “A myrtle standing among thorns is still called a myrtle, and people call it a myrtle.”

22 Resisei Layla 26 — Rav Tzadok explains Balaam's mistake at Shittim: he imagined that when Israel became immersed in worldly pleasure, they were thereby separated from Hashem. “But in truth Hashem ‘dwells with them amid their impurities’ ... for this is the entire root of Israel: even though he has sinned as he has sinned, he remains Israel and remembers Hashem.” He describes an inward cry and remorse that persist even in failure. Thus the unbroken root discussed here is a living capacity to return and cry out to Hashem, rather than the claim that outward conduct is already perfected.

23 Shiur discussion: Those who remained in Egypt — Rashi on Shemos 10:22:2 says that there were wicked Israelites who did not want to leave and died during the darkness. Rashi on 13:18:3 records the interpretation that one fifth left. These are the sources for the background of the question about Dasan and Aviram. The proposed reason for their survival —their remaining inner attachment or desire to leave—is offered in the shiur as an explanation, not as a statement quoted from these Rashis.

Rashi on Exodus 10:22:2 — שֶׁהָיוּ בְיִשְׂרָאֵל בְּאוֹתוֹ הַדּוֹר רְשָׁעִים וְלֹא הָיוּ רוֹצִים לָצֵאת — “There were wicked people among Israel in that generation who did not want to leave.”

24 Numbers 16:3 — “They assembled against Moses and Aaron and said to them: You have taken too much upon yourselves! For the entire congregation, all of them, are holy, and Hashem is among them. Why do you raise yourselves above Hashem's congregation?”

25 Mei HaShiloach I, Metzora 3 — The Ishbitzer explains that the priest signifies awe and service: careful composure in every matter, small or great, to discern whether it is Hashem's will. “This point is found in every individual Israelite,” and when it becomes active in mitzvah and service, “he is called by the name ‘priest.’” The person seeking healing must submit to this priestly quality within himself, because “the principal healing is to heal his root.” The passage identifies the inward capacity for service and awe that illuminates Rav Tzadok's description of a kingdom of priests.

26 Bereshit Rabbah 61:1 — Rabbi Shimon asks how Abraham learned Torah when “his father did not teach him, and he had no teacher.” He answers: “The Holy One, blessed be He, appointed his two kidneys as two teachers, and they would well forth and teach him Torah and wisdom.” The Midrash cites, “I bless Hashem, who has counseled me; even at night my kidneys instruct me” (Psalms 16:7). This is the source of Rav Tzadok's image of Torah welling forth from within Abraham.

27 Psalms 110:4 — “Hashem has sworn and will not change His mind: You are a priest forever ...” Nedarim 32b interprets the closing words, al divrati Malki-Tzedek, in connection with the priesthood passing from Shem, identified as Melchizedek, to Abraham.

28 Nedarim 32b:6 — Rabbi Zecharyah said in the name of Rabbi Yishmael: “The Holy One, blessed be He, intended to bring the priesthood forth from Shem, as it is written, ‘He was a priest of God Most High’ (Genesis 14:18). But because he placed Abraham's blessing before the blessing of the Omnipresent, He brought it forth from Abraham.” Shem is identified here with Melchizedek.

priest forever" (Psalms 110:4), for he merited priesthood, as stated in Nedarim 32b. At that time, however, he was still unique in his generation in possessing this quality.

The shell that precedes the fruit

וְעוֹג שֶׁנִּתְאַוָּה לְשָׂרָה, הוּא הָיָה הַקְּלִפָּה הַחוֹפֶפֶת לַפְּרִי דְּאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, דְּ"זֶה לְעֻמַּת זֶה עָשָׂה אֱלֹהִים",[29] — Og, who desired Sarah, was the kelipah surrounding the fruit represented by our father Abraham, peace be upon him, for "God has made the one corresponding to the other." וּמִסְתָּמָא גַּם הוּא הִשִּׂיג מֵחָכְמַת חִיצוֹנִית מַה שֶּׁהָיָה בַּקְּלִפָּה הַסּוֹבֶבֶת לְחָכְמַת הַתּוֹרָה, — Presumably, he too attained some of the external wisdom present in the shell surrounding the wisdom of the Torah. כִּי בְּכָל דָּבָר יֵשׁ קְלִפָּה הַקּוֹדֶמֶת לַפְּרִי, כַּיָּדוּעַ דִּבְרֵישָׁא חֲשׁוֹכָא וַהֲדַר נְהוֹרָא;[30] — For in everything the shell precedes the fruit, as is known: first comes darkness and then light. וְהָיָה חוֹשֵׁב עַצְמוֹ גַּם כֵּן לְצַדִּיק כַּנִּזְכָּר לְעֵיל, אֲבָל אֶצְלוֹ הָיָה הַכֹּל רַק כְּ"מָחִיר בְּיַד כְּסִיל לִקְנוֹת חָכְמָה וְלֵב אָיִן" [מִשְׁלֵי י״ז:ט״ז], כִּי בִּלְבָבוֹ לֹא הָיָה שׁוּם שׁוֹרֶשׁ קְדוּשָׁה וְטוֹב כְּלָל.[31] — He also considered himself righteous, as explained above. In his case, however, everything was merely like "money in a fool's hand to acquire wisdom, when he has no heart" (Proverbs 17:16), for his heart contained no root of holiness or goodness at all.

When the shell has fulfilled its purpose

וְאִבְּדָן הַקְּלִפָּה דְּעוֹג שֶׁהָיָה בְּפֹעַל עַל יְדֵי מֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם בְּסוֹף אַרְבָּעִים שָׁנָה דְּמִדְבָּר, הוּא מַה שֶּׁבָּאָה לָהֶם בְּהִשְׁתַּדְּלוּתָם, דְּעַל יְדֵי זֶה זָכוּ לְנַצּוּחַ הָרָע בְּפֹעַל לְהַאֲבִידוֹ לְגַמְרֵי מֵהָעוֹלָם; — The actual destruction of Og's kelipah through Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, at the end of the forty years in the wilderness, was what Israel achieved through their own effort. Through this they merited to overcome evil in practice and remove it entirely from the world. וְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם הוּא הַתְּחָלַת הַקְּדוּשָׁה שֶׁשָּׁלַח הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ בְּחַסְדּוֹ נֶפֶשׁ כָּזֶה לָעוֹלָם שֶׁהוּא הַהֵיפֶךְ וְהַמַּאֲבִיד לְאוֹתוֹ קְלִפָּה. — Our father Abraham, peace be upon him, was the beginning of the holiness: Hashem, blessed be He, in His lovingkindness, sent such a soul into the world, a soul that was the opposite of that kelipah and would destroy it.

Yitzchak and Yaakov and holiness within earthly life

וְיִצְחָק נֶגֶד "נָתַן אַרְצָם לְנַחֲלָה" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:כ״א],[32] — Isaac corresponds to "He gave their land as an inheritance" (Psalms 136:21). כִּי נַחֲלַת הָאָרֶץ הַנִּקְרָא אֶרֶץ יִשְׂרָאֵל, שֶׁיֵּשׁ בָּהּ קְדֻשַּׁת הָאָרֶץ, הוּא כַּאֲשֶׁר זוֹכֶה לְהִתְפַּשְׁטוּת גַּם בְּמַעֲשֵׂה הָאַרְצִיּוּת וְגוּפָנִיּוּת;[33] — For inheriting the land called the Land of Israel, with its distinctive holiness, means attaining an expansion of holiness even into earthly and bodily activity.

29 Shiur discussion: David's ancestry through Moav — The illustration in the discussion combines Bereishis 19:30–38, the account of Lot's daughters and the birth of Moav, with Ruth 4:13–22, which traces David's line through Ruth the Moabite. The application to the shell preceding the fruit is the shiur's explanation of those narratives.

30 Shiur discussion: Darkness before light — The exact saying is in Shabbat 77b:8. Asked why goats walk ahead of sheep, Rav Yehudah answers that it follows the order of creation: darkness first, then light. Rav Tzadok uses this order to explain the shell preceding the fruit; the Gemara's immediate setting is the order of creation.

Shabbat 77b:8 — כִּבְרִיָּיתוֹ שֶׁל עוֹלָם, דִּבְרֵישָׁא חֲשׁוֹכָא וַהֲדַר נְהוֹרָא — "As in the creation of the world: first darkness, and afterward light."

31 Proverbs 17:16 — "Why is there money in a fool's hand to acquire wisdom, when he has no heart?"

32 Psalms 136:21 — "He gave their land as an inheritance, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

33 Beit Yaakov, Chayei Sarah 13:3 — Rabbi Yaakov Leiner explains that the Temple's place expresses "holiness established in the very bodies of Israel," who become so filled with Torah that "even their bodily enjoyment is filled with words of Torah." In that setting he distinguishes an established holy illumination from the light a person presently produces through conscious effort. This is a close parallel to the present expansion of holiness into bodily life: material activity itself becomes a bearer of Torah, rather than holiness being confined to an abstract attainment.

Restraint, the Negev, and the covenant of milah

וְהוּא עַל יְדֵי הַצְמָצוּם בַּהַתְאַוּוֹת שֶׁהוּא מִדַּת יִצְחָק אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, יוֹשֵׁב בְּאֶרֶץ הַנֶּגֶב, מְנֻגָּב מִכָּל תַּאֲוֹת (עַל דֶּרֶךְ שֶׁאָמְרוּ תְּמוּרָה ט״ז עַמּוּד א׳ וְחֲמוּדוֹת עוֹלָם הַזֶּה);[34] — This comes through restraining desire, the attribute of our father Isaac, peace be upon him, who dwelt in the land of the Negev: menugav, emptied of all the desires and attractions of this world, following the exposition in Temurah 16a. אֲבָל בְּאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם נֶאֱמַר רַק "הָלוֹךְ וְנָסוֹעַ הַנֶּגְבָּה" [בְּרֵאשִׁית י״ב:ט׳], שֶׁעַל זֶה הָיָה הִשְׁתַּדְּלוּתוֹ כָּל יָמָיו;[35] — Of our father Abraham, peace be upon him, however, it says only that he was "journeying steadily toward the Negev" (Genesis 12:9). This was the goal toward which he exerted himself throughout his life. וְיִצְחָק אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם כְּבָר נוֹלַד בְּשָׁרְשׁוֹ כֵּן, דְּעַל כֵּן הוּא הָרִאשׁוֹן שֶׁנִּימּוֹל לְשִׁמּוֹנָה, שֶׁבָּא בִּבְרִית חוֹתְמוֹ מִבֶּטֶן וּמֵצַד שָׁרְשׁוֹ, וְהַמִּילָה הוּא לְהַגְדֶּרֶת הַהִתְאַוָּה כַּנּוֹדָע.[36][37] — Our father Isaac, peace be upon him, was already born this way at his root. Therefore he was the first to be circumcised on the eighth day: from the womb, by virtue of his root, he entered the covenant of His seal. Circumcision, as is known, serves to place a boundary around desire.

Yaakov and the holiness of every descendant

וְאַחַר כָּךְ יַעֲקֹב אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם נֶגֶד "נַחֲלָה לְיִשְׂרָאֵל עַבְדּוֹ" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:כ״ב], שֶׁהוּא זָכָה לְשֵׁם יִשְׂרָאֵל בְּהִתְגַּלּוּת וְלִהְיוֹת עַבְדּוֹ וְקִנְיָנוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ, כְּמוֹ שֶׁכָּתוּב "הוּא אָבִיךָ קָנָךְ" [דְּבָרִים ל״ב:ו׳].[38][39] — Then our father Jacob, peace be upon him, corresponds to "An inheritance to Israel, His servant" (Psalms 136:22). He merited openly to bear the name Israel and to become His servant and acquisition, blessed be He, as it says, "He is your Father, who acquired you" (Deuteronomy 32:6). וְאַחַר כָּךְ מַתְחִיל שֶׁפָּשְׁפְּלֵנוּ [זָכַר לָנוּ]" וַ"יִּפְרְקֵנוּ" [תְּהִלִּים קל״ו:כ״ג–כ״ד], מְדַבֵּר בַּעֲדֵנוּ וְלֹא כִּדְלְעֵיל;[40] — After this the psalm begins, "Who remembered us in our lowliness," and "And rescued us" (Psalms 136:23–24). It now speaks on our behalf, unlike the earlier verses. כִּי מִמֶּנּוּ וֶהֱלְאָה כָּל זַרְעוֹ כֻּלּוֹ קֹדֶשׁ שְׁמִטָּתוֹ שְׁלֵימָה, וְאַף שֶׁלֹּא הָיָה עֲדַיִן בְּהִתְגַּלּוּת עַד מַתַּן תּוֹרָה, קַמֵּי שְׁמַיָּא גְּלֵיָא; — For from Jacob onward all his descendants are holy, his offspring entirely complete. Although this was not yet openly revealed until the giving of the Torah, it was already known before Heaven. וְהַדּוֹר שֶׁזָּכוּ אַחַר כָּךְ לְמַתַּן תּוֹרָה לְיִדָּתָם הָיָה בְּחַסְדּוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ, שֶׁשָּׁלַח נְפָשׁוֹת כָּאֵלּוּ בָּעוֹלָם שֶׁיִּהְיוּ רְאוּיִם לְהִתְגַּלּוּת דְּמַתַּן תּוֹרָה. — The birth of the generation that later merited the giving of the Torah was itself an act of His lovingkindness, blessed be He: He sent souls like these into the world so that they would be fit for the revelation at the giving of the Torah.

34 Temurah 16a:11 — Achsah says, “Give me a blessing, for you have given me a land of the Negev” (Joshua 15:19). The Gemara expounds: “A house drained of all good”; on “give me springs of water,” it speaks of “a man who has nothing but Torah.” The wordplay connects negev, dry land, with menugav, drained or emptied. Rav Tzadok applies this language to Isaac's freedom from worldly desire; the Gemara itself is discussing Achsah and Othniel.

35 Genesis 12:9 — “Abram continued his journeys, traveling steadily toward the Negev.”

36 Yisrael Kedoshim 9:4 — Rav Tzadok gives the same contrast in a fuller account of the Patriarchs. Abraham was “journeying toward the Negev”: exerting himself to become entirely emptied of worldly desire. Isaac, however, was already “dwelling in the land of the Negev,” with his inclination under his control. “Holiness from below he had already inherited from Abraham; he drew down holiness from above.” This explains why the present maamar contrasts movement toward the Negev with dwelling there: Isaac begins from an inherited attainment and adds a new holy root of his own.

37 Shiur discussion: Milah and the restraint of desire — Bereishis 21:4 states that Avraham circumcised Yitzchak at eight days. Rambam, Moreh Nevukhim III:49, includes the weakening of sexual desire among the reasons for milah. This supports the discussion’s reference to placing a boundary around desire. Rav Tzadok’s fuller comparison of Avraham and Yitzchak is already quoted in the adjacent Yisrael Kedoshim 9:4 note.

38 Psalms 136:22 — “An inheritance to Israel, His servant, for His lovingkindness endures forever.”

39 Deuteronomy 32:6 — “Is this how you repay Hashem, foolish and unwise people? Is He not your Father, who acquired you? He made you and established you.”

40 Psalms 136:23–24 — “Who remembered us in our lowliness, for His lovingkindness endures forever; and rescued us from our adversaries, for His lovingkindness endures forever.”

Bringing the Shechinah into the lower world

וְזֶהוּ "הוֹדוּ לְאֵל הַשָּׁמָיִם" [שָׁם קל״ו:כ״ו], דְּקֹמֵי שְׁמַיָּא גַּלְיָא שֶׁכְּבָר הִשְׁלִימוּ כָּל מַדְרֵגוֹת הַקְּדוּשָׁה שֶׁבַּלֵּב לְהוֹרַדַת הַשְּׁכִינָה לַתַּחְתּוֹנִים,[41] — This is the meaning of "Give thanks to the God of heaven" (Psalms 136:26). It was known before Heaven that they had already completed all the degrees of holiness within the heart required to bring the Divine Presence down into the lower world. עַד שֶׁרְאוּיִם לְהַרְכָּנַת שָׁמַיִם הָעֶלְיוֹנִים עַל הַר סִינַי לִהְיוֹת מִתְגַּלֶּה הַכֹּל בָּאָרֶץ, עַד שֶׁאַחַר כָּךְ נֶאֱמַר "לֹא בַשָּׁמַיִם הִיא", כִּי עִקַּר הַתּוֹרָה וְהַשְּׁכִינָה בַּתַּחְתּוֹנִים; וְאֵין כָּאן מְקוֹמוֹ לְהַאֲרִיךְ יוֹתֵר. — They were therefore fit for the supernal heavens to be bent down over Mount Sinai, so that everything could be revealed upon earth. Afterward it was said, "It is not in heaven," for the primary dwelling of the Torah and the Divine Presence is below. This is not the place to elaborate further.

Transforming deficiency and the light of Chanukah

Thirteen paired with thirteen returning to unity

וְאֵלּוּ עֶשְׂרִים וְשִׁשָּׁה קְדֻשׁוֹת חֲסָדִים הֵם שְׁלֹשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה נֶגֶד שְׁלֹשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה, אֶחָד בְּהִתְפַּשְּׁטוּת וְאֶחָד בְּצִמְצוּם מִצַּד מִדַּת הַגְּבוּרָה שֶׁבַּחֶסֶד; — These twenty-six forms of holiness and lovingkindness are thirteen corresponding to thirteen: one in expansion and one in contraction, through the attribute of Gevurah within Chesed. וְהֵם נֶגֶד שְׁלֹשָׁה עָשָׂר שְׁבָטִים שֶׁבְּכָל אֶחָד שְׁנַיִם הַמְחֻבָּרִים עַל יְדֵי קַו הָאֶמְצָעִי שֶׁל שָׁרְשָׁם מִיַּעֲקֹב אֲבִיהֶם הַמְחַבֵּר הַכֹּל לְמַעְלָה וּמְאַחֵד כֻּלָּם כְּאֶחָד; — They correspond to the thirteen tribes, each of which contains two aspects joined through the middle line of their root in Jacob their father. 41 Psalms 136:26 — "Give thanks to the God of heaven, for His lovingkindness endures forever."

42 Shiur discussion: Echad, thirteen, and Chanukah — A directly relevant parallel is Me'or Einayim, Mikeitz 1: the single cruse is connected with echad, the numerical value thirteen, and attachment to Hashem's thirteen attributes. This joins the same themes of unity, mercy, and the Hasmonean victory. The shiur also recalls a discussion in Maharal; the precise Maharal passage was not identified, so this verified parallel is supplied without attributing it to Maharal.
Me'or Einayim, Miketz 1 — מצאו פך אחד כו׳ אחד גימטריא י״ג היינו לאחוז בי״ג מדותיו יתברך — "They found one cruse … echad has the numerical value thirteen, meaning to grasp His thirteen attributes."

43 Chagigah 16a:17 — The Sages say: "A person's soul bears witness against him, as it is written, 'Guard the openings of your mouth from her who lies in your bosom' (Micah 7:5). What lies in a person's bosom? His soul." Rabbi Zerika says: "The two ministering angels who accompany him bear witness against him, as it is written, 'He will command His angels concerning you, to guard you in all your ways' (Psalms 91:11)." The Sages also say: "A person's limbs bear witness against him, as it is written, 'You are My witnesses, says Hashem, and I am God' (Isaiah 43:12)."

44 Shabbat 119b:3 — Rav Chisda said in the name of Mar Ukva: "When a person prays on Shabbat eve and recites Vayechulu, the two ministering angels who accompany him place their hands upon his head and say: 'Your wrongdoing has departed, and your sin is atoned' (Isaiah 6:7)." A baraita records Rabbi Yosei bar Yehudah's teaching: "Two ministering angels accompany a person from the synagogue to his home on Shabbat eve, one good and one evil. If he finds a lamp burning, the table prepared, and his bed arranged, the good angel says: May it be so next Shabbat as well; the evil angel must answer Amen against his will. Otherwise the evil angel says: May it be so next Shabbat as well; and the good angel must answer Amen against his will."

45 Bereshit Rabbah 9:7 — The Midrash interprets "behold, it was very good" as including the evil inclination. It asks: "Is the evil inclination very good? This is astonishing!" It answers: "Were it not for the evil inclination, a person would not build a house, marry, have children, or engage in business." Thus the force that can lead to wrongdoing also supplies the energy for constructive human activity when properly directed.

46 Shiur discussion: Begadim and bogdim — Sanhedrin 37a:7 supplies the wordplay mentioned in the shiur. Rabbi Zeira reads the fragrance of Yaakov's garments as an allusion to even his faithless descendants. The ensuing account of the sinners who lived near Rabbi Zeira and repented after his death appears at 37a:8. This illuminates the discussion of discovering and restoring good within rebellion.

Sanhedrin 37a:7-8 — ״וַיָּרַח אֶת רֵיחַ בְּגָדָיו״. אַל תִּיקְרֵי ״בְּגָדָיו״ אֶלָּא ״בּוֹגְדָיו״ — "He smelled the fragrance of his garments: read not 'his garments' but 'his faithless ones.'"

47 Resisei Layla 13 — "According to the virtue and perfection a person possesses, so is there an exactly corresponding deficiency facing him, proportionate to his level." Rav Tzadok adds: "One who has an immense deficiency is also a vessel for extraordinary perfection, if he merits." He immediately illustrates this with the Flood generation, which could have received the Torah. The parallel explains how the same spiritual capacity can appear as a powerful vulnerability before its rectification, and connects this principle with the earlier discussion of the Flood.

48 Deuteronomy 27:15-25 — The eleven specific curses are in Parashat Ki Tavo. They address making a concealed idol; contempt for parents; moving a neighbor's boundary; misleading the blind; perverting the justice due a stranger, orphan, or widow; four prohibited sexual relationships; striking a neighbor in secret; and accepting a bribe to shed innocent blood. Each is answered by the people's "Amen." These are the eleven particular prohibitions to which Rav Tzadok refers.

49 Deuteronomy 27:26; Rashi ad loc. — The concluding declaration adds: "Cursed is one who does not uphold the words of this Torah, to perform them; and all the people shall say: Amen." Rashi explains: "Here he included the whole Torah, and they accepted it upon themselves with a curse and an oath." This concluding, comprehensive acceptance follows the eleven specific curses of verses 15-25; it is distinct from the eleven particular prohibitions counted in the preceding note.

יְהוּדָה בַּחֲלָקָה דְּיהוֹשֻׁעַ, וּמְנַשֶּׁה וְאֶפְרַיִם נִכְלְלוּ יַחַד בְּיוֹסֵף, וְעַל כֵּן הֵם אַחַד עָשָׂר],[50][51] — These correspond to the tribes; see Rashi there. I have received the tradition that these are the deficiencies innate in each tribe. Simeon is included within Judah, just as his inheritance was included within the inheritance of Judah's descendants in Joshua's division of the land; Manasseh and Ephraim are included together in Joseph. Therefore there are eleven. וּמִצַּד אוֹתָם הַחֶסְרוֹנוֹת [עַד שֶׁלֹּא תִּקְּנוּם לִהְיוֹת נַעֲשֶׂה מִן הָרַע טוֹב] בָּאוּ לְגָלוּת מִצְרַיִם, לְתִקּוּן וּלְבֵרֵר הַקְּדוּשָׁה שֶׁבָּהֶם [וְלִהְיוֹת גַּם הָרַע חוֹזֵר לְטוֹב כַּנִּזְכָּר לְעֵיל]; — Because of these deficiencies, before they had corrected them so that evil would become good, they entered the Egyptian exile for rectification and to refine the holiness within them, so that the evil too would return to good, as explained above.

וְאַחַר יְצִיאַת מִצְרַיִם וּמַתַּן תּוֹרָה נִתְגַּלּוּ אוֹתָן הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת בְּזַרְעָם. — After the Exodus from Egypt and the giving of the Torah, those forms of holiness were revealed within their descendants.

The Greek attempt to awaken old deficiencies

וּמַלְכוּת יָוָן הָרְשָׁעָה, שֶׁבִּקְּשׁוּ "לְהַשְׁכִּיחָם תּוֹרָתֶךָ", רָצוּ לְהַחֲזִיר אוֹתָם הַחֶסְרוֹנוֹת — The wicked kingdom of Greece, which sought "to make them forget Your Torah," wanted to bring back those deficiencies.

The dream ends Rav Tzadok develops its meaning

וְלֹא נִתְגַּלָּה לִי יוֹתֵר בַּחֲלוֹם; וְנִרְאֶה לִי שֶׁהוּא עַל יְדֵי חָכְמַת יְוָנִית שֶׁלָּהֶם, שֶׁהוּא הַקְּלִפָּה הַסּוֹבֶבֶת לַפְּרִי [דְּחָכְמַת תּוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה דְּחָכְמֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל, שֶׁהוּא הַשֹּׁרֶשׁ דִּכְנֶסֶת יִשְׂרָאֵל, שֶׁשָּׁם כָּל הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת],[52] — No more was revealed to me in the dream. It appears to me, however, that they sought to do this through their Greek wisdom, the shell surrounding the fruit of the wisdom of the Oral Torah of Israel's Sages. This is the root of Knesset Yisrael, where all the forms of holiness are found.

Higher Wisdom and the Oral Torah

דְּהַתְחָלָתָם מֵהַחָכְמָה הָעֶלְיוֹנָה שֶׁשָּׁם הַתְחָלַת הִתְגַּלּוּת הַיֵּשׁ מֵאַיִן, וּמִשָּׁם הוֹרִיד מֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם (בְּרֵאשִׁית רַבָּה פָּרָשָׁה י״ז),[53] — Their beginning is in the supernal Wisdom, where the revelation of existence from nothing begins. From there Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, brought down the Torah, which is termed a novelet, a derivative fruit of the supernal Wisdom, as stated in Bereshit Rabbah, chapter 17. פֶּה, וּמְמֻנָּה נִמְשָׁךְ לְחָכְמָה תַּתְּאָה דְּ"מַלְכוּת

50 Rashi on Deuteronomy 27:24; Joshua 19:9 — Rashi writes: "I saw in the work of Rabbi Moshe HaDarshan that there are eleven curses here, corresponding to eleven tribes. He did not write a curse corresponding to Simeon, because he did not intend to bless him before his death when he blessed the other tribes; therefore he did not wish to curse him." Joshua 19:9 states that Simeon's inheritance came from Judah's territory and lay within it. Rav Tzadok identifies his further explanation of each tribe's innate deficiency as a received tradition, rather than as Rashi's own statement.

51 Mei HaShiloach II, Ki Tavo 6 — Rav Tzadok's teacher, the Ishbitzer, Rabbi Mordechai Yosef Leiner, gives a direct counterpart to the received teaching: "Hashem gave the Torah to Israel to complete their deficiencies ... through the Torah they refine themselves." After citing Rashi's correspondence of the eleven curses to the tribes, he explains: "Because each had a deficiency impressed within him from birth, eleven curses were stated." This identifies the purpose of the correspondence: Torah repairs the particular deficiency, rather than merely naming it. Machshavot Charutz 8:11 — Rav Tzadok repeats: "I received that the eleven curses corresponding to the tribes, as Rashi writes, are the deficiencies within each tribe." After giving a specific correspondence he adds, "In this exact wording I heard it, and no more was explained to me." This distinguishes the received teaching from the explanations he subsequently develops.

52 Shiur discussion: A covering that comes from within — The alternate transcript records the Aramaic image "כְּהַדֵּין קְמָצָא דִּלְבוּשֵׁיהּ מִינֵיהּ וּבֵיהּ"—"like this creature whose clothing is from itself." Its source is Bereshit Rabbah 21:5, in the discussion of Gavriel's clothing. Tanya, Likkutei Amarim 21:8, applies it to the Divine concealments, which are not something separate from Him. This is an editorial source note for the alternate transcript; the short spoken phrase was not clearly recoverable in the recording. Neither passage, by itself, establishes that one must seek evil in order to grow.

53 Bereshit Rabbah 17:5 — Rabbi Chanina bar Yitzchak names three derivative manifestations: sleep is a derivative of death, a dream of prophecy, and Shabbat of the World to Come. Rabbi Avin adds two: "The derivative of the supernal light is the orb of the sun; the derivative of the supernal Wisdom is Torah." The term novelet describes a lower manifestation proceeding from a higher reality, which is the relationship Rav Tzadok develops here.

תּוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה", וְרַגְלֶיהָ יוֹרְדוֹת מָוֶת לְחָכְמָה חִיצוֹנִית שֶׁשָּׁם הֵיפֶךְ כָּל הַקְּדוּשָׁה הַנִּמְשָׁךְ מֵחָכְמָה הַקְּדוֹשָׁה; — From it there is a flow to the lower Wisdom: "Malkhut is the mouth, the Oral Torah." Its feet descend toward death, into external wisdom, where there is the opposite of all the holiness that flows from holy Wisdom. עַל כֵּן מִשָּׁם שֹׁרֶשׁ כָּל הַחֶסְרוֹנוֹת כֻּלָּם, כִּי בָּא מִזֶּה לִידֵי אֶפִּיקוֹרְסוּת וּכְפִירַת כָּל הַתּוֹרָה כֻּלָּהּ. — Consequently, the root of all the deficiencies is there, for this can lead to heresy and denial of the entire Torah. וְנִצּוּחָם עַל יְדֵי הַכֹּהֲנִים שֶׁהֵם שֹׁרֶשׁ כָּל הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת, דְּעַל כֵּן נִקְרְאוּ יִשְׂרָאֵל "מַמְלֶכֶת כֹּהֲנִים" לִהְיוֹת "גּוֹי קָדוֹשׁ", כּוֹלְלִים כָּל מַדְרֵגוֹת הַקְּדוּשָׁה לְהִתְאַחֵד בְּגוֹי אֶחָד; — They were defeated through the priests, who are the root of all the forms of holiness. Therefore Israel is called "a kingdom of priests," to be "a holy nation": they encompass every degree of holiness, becoming united as one nation.

וְכֵן יֵשׁ לָהֶם כֹּהֵן גָּדוֹל אֶחָד שֶׁבּוֹ נִכְלָל כָּל הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת, כִּי בַּכֹּהֲנִים נֶאֱמַר "וְקִדַּשְׁתּוֹ" שֶׁמַּשְׁפִּיעִים בָּהֶם כָּל הַקְּדֻשּׁוֹת, וְהֵם כֻּלָּם בְּכֹהֵן גָּדוֹל הָעוֹמֵד בִּמְקוֹם אַהֲרֹן שֹׁרֶשׁ לְכָל הַכֹּהֲנִים שֶׁנִּבְדַּל לְהַקְדִּישׁוֹ קֹדֶשׁ קָדָשִׁים; — They likewise have one High Priest in whom all the forms of holiness are included. Of the priests it says, "You shall sanctify him": all the forms of holiness are bestowed upon them, and all are present in the High Priest. He stands in Aaron's place, as the root of all the priests, set apart to be sanctified as holy of holies.

The sealed cruse and the High Priest

וְזֶהוּ פַּךְ שֶׁמֶן שֶׁמָּצְאוּ חָתוּם בְּחוֹתָמוֹ שֶׁל כֹּהֵן גָּדוֹל, שֶׁלֹּא יָכְלוּ לְטַמֵּא בְּחָכְמָתָם הַטְּמֵאָה לְשֹׁרֶשׁ הַחָכְמָה דְּקְדוּשָׁה הֶחָתוּם בְּשֹׁרֶשׁ הַקְּדוּשָׁה דְּכֹהֵן גָּדוֹל, — This is the cruse of oil they found sealed with the seal of the High Priest. Through their impure wisdom they could not defile the root of holy Wisdom sealed within the High Priest's root of holiness. דְּאֵין מַגִּיעַ מַגָּע זָר לְשֹׁרֶשׁ הַשּׁוֹשַׁנָּה הָעֶלְיוֹנָה שֶׁהִיא מַעְיָן חָתוּם. — For no alien touch can reach the root of the supernal rose, which is a sealed spring.

The decree against the sealed spring

וְכָל הִתְחַכְּמוּתָם לְטַמֵּא אוֹתוֹ מַעְיָן חָתוּם בִּגְזֵרַת "תִּבָּעֵל לַהֶגְמוֹן תְּחִלָּה" (רַשִׁ"י שַׁבָּת כ"ג רֵישׁ עַמּוּד א' דִּבּוּר הַמַּתְחִיל "הָיוּ"),[54] — All their clever scheming sought to defile that sealed spring through the decree that a bride must first be violated by the governor, as Rashi explains at the beginning of Shabbat 23a, on the words hayu. שֶׁחָשְׁבוּ לְטַמֵּא בָּזֶה שֹׁרֶשׁ דִּכְנֶסֶת יִשְׂרָאֵל מִלִּידָה מִבֶּטֶן, שֶׁ"אֵין אִשָּׁה כּוֹרֶתֶת בְּרִית אֶלָּא לְמִי שֶׁעָשָׂאהּ כְּלִי" (סַנְהֶדְרִין כ"ב עַמּוּד ב') וּתְהֵא דְּבוּקָה בּוֹ לְהוֹלִיד בְּדוֹמֶה לוֹ,[55] — They thought thereby to defile the root of Knesset Yisrael from birth, from the womb. For "a woman forms a covenant only with the one who made her a vessel" (Sanhedrin 22b), so that she would become attached to him and bear offspring resembling him. לֹא הוֹעִילָה לָהֶם כְּשֶׁהִגִּיעַ הַדָּבָר לְבִתּוֹ שֶׁל חַשְׁמוֹנַאי כֹּהֵן גָּדוֹל, שָׁאָז נִתְגַּלָּה שֹׁרֶשׁ הַקְּדוּשָׁה הַמְבַטֵּל וּמְאַבֵּד לְשֹׁרֶשׁ הַטֻּמְאָה;[56] — Their plan did not succeed when the matter reached the daughter of the Hasmonean High Priest. Then the root of holiness was revealed, nullifying and destroying the root of impurity.

54 Rashi on Shabbat 23a, s.v. she'af hen hayu — "Because the Greeks decreed that every virgin entering marriage must first be violated by the governor; and the miracle came about through a woman."

55 Sanhedrin 22b:3 — Rav Shmuel bar Unya says in Rav's name: "She forms a covenant only with the one who made her a vessel," citing, "For your husband is your Maker; Hashem of hosts is His name" (Isaiah 54:5). The passage describes the bond associated with a woman's first marital intimacy. Rav Tzadok invokes it to explain the intended spiritual harm of the Greeks' decree.

56 Likkutei Maamarim, Festivals 15:4 — Rav Tzadok expressly joins these images in his account of the Hasmonean victory: the Greeks' attack upon the Oral Torah, the defilement of the oils, and the decree against Jewish brides. "They did not know that the daughters of Israel are 'a sealed spring': a stranger has no dominion within them. Likewise a cruse was found sealed with the High Priest's seal." He calls self-sacrifice to preserve this separation "the root of Israel's wholeheartedness." Thus the sealed oil and the sealed spring express one protected inward root, disclosed through the resistance described here.

Kohanim and the wisdom of the Oral Torah

וּבַכֹּהֲנִים הוּא שֹׁרֶשׁ חָכְמַת תּוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה, כְּמוֹ שֶׁכָּתוּב: "יוֹרוּ מִשְׁפָּטֶיךָ לְיַעֲקֹב וְתוֹרָתְךָ [לְיִשְׂרָאֵל]" [דְּבָרִים ל״ג:י׳], וְנֶאֱמַר "וּבָאתָ אֶל הַכֹּהֲנִים הַלְוִיִּם וְגוֹמֵר" [שָׁם י״ז:ט׳], דִּכְלַל שִׁבְטָא לְוִי גַּם כֵּן מוּכָן לָזֶה;[57][58] — The root of the wisdom of the Oral Torah lies in the priests, as it says, “They shall teach Your judgments to Jacob and Your Torah to Israel” (Deuteronomy 33:10), and “You shall come to the priests, the Levites,” and so forth (Deuteronomy 17:9). For the whole tribe of Levi is also fitted for this. וּמֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, שֹׁרֶשׁ כָּל הַלְוִיִּם, הוֹרִיד הַתּוֹרָה שֶׁבִּכְתָב שֶׁהוּא בְּסוֹד הַדַּעַת, שֶׁהוּא חָבוּר חָכְמָה וּבִינָה, מוֹחָא וְלִבָּא, — Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, the root of all the Levites, brought down the Written Torah. It is rooted in the mystery of Da'at, knowledge, which joins Chochmah and Binah, Wisdom and Understanding: mind and heart. שֶׁמִּשָּׁם הַמְשָׁכַת תּוֹרָה שֶׁבִּכְתָב וְשֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה שֶׁעִקָּרָהּ בַּלֵּב כַּיָּדוּעַ מִלְּשׁוֹן "אַלִּיבָּא דְּרַבִּי פְּלוֹנִי", וּכְמוֹ שֶׁאָמְרוּ בְּסַנְהֶדְרִין (ל״ה עַמּוּד א׳): "לִבָּא דַּאֲנָשֵׁי אֲנָשֵׁי",[59] — From there flows both the Written Torah and the Oral Torah, the latter being rooted primarily in the heart. This is known from the expression aliba de-Rabbi so-and-so, “according to the view of Rabbi so-and-so,” literally, “in his heart”; and as Sanhedrin 35a says, “People forget the heart of their reasoning.”

Wisdom rooted in a pure heart

דְּהַמְשָׁכַת חָכְמָה דְּסַנְהֶדְרִין, חַכְמֵי הַתּוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה, הוּא מִן הַלֵּב וּמֵהַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ שֶׁהוּא צוּר לִבָּם, לֵב טָהוֹר;[60] — For the wisdom of the Sanhedrin, the Sages of the Oral Torah, flows from the heart and from Hashem, blessed be He, who is the Rock of their heart: a pure heart. וְשָׁם גַּם כֵּן מִשְׁכַּן הַיֵּצֶר הָרָע שֶׁהוּא לֵב טָמֵא וְרָע, שֶׁעָלָיו נֶאֱמַר "לֹא תָתֻרוּ אַחֲרֵי לְבַבְכֶם" [בַּמִּדְבָּר ט״ו:ל״ט] — זוֹ מִינוּת, שֶׁ"אָמַר נָבָל בְּלִבּוֹ" [תְּהִלִּים י״ד:א׳] כְּמוֹ שֶׁאָמְרוּ בִּבְרָכוֹת י״ב עַמּוּד ב׳,[61][62][63] — The evil inclination also dwells there, as an impure and evil heart. Of this it says, “Do not stray after your hearts” (Numbers 15:39)—this refers to heresy, for “the fool has said in his heart” (Psalms 14:1), as taught in Berakhot 12b. שֶׁהוּא חָכְמַת הַמִּינִים, "עַם נָבָל וְלֹא חָכָם" [דְּבָרִים ל״ב:ו׳], שֶׁמְּנַבְּלִים עַצְמָם וְלֹא עַל דִּבְרֵי תוֹרָה, שֶׁהוּא הַסִּכְלוּת שֶׁהֵיפֵךְ הַחָכְמָה בֶּאֱמֶת;[64] — This is the wisdom of the heretics, “a foolish and unwise people”

57 Deuteronomy 33:10 — “They shall teach Your judgments to Jacob and Your Torah to Israel. They shall place incense before You, and a whole offering upon Your altar.”

58 Deuteronomy 17:9 — “You shall come to the priests, the Levites, and to the judge who will be in those days; you shall inquire, and they shall tell you the ruling in the matter.”

59 Sanhedrin 35a:11 — The Gemara rejects postponing the completion of a capital trial from Friday until Sunday because the judges would forget their reasoning. Even though two court scribes record the arguments for acquittal and conviction, “although they write what is spoken, the heart of people is forgotten.” The written record preserves the stated arguments, but not the judges' entire inward grasp of them. This is the setting of the expression Rav Tzadok quotes about wisdom rooted in the heart.

60 Pri Tzaddik, Chanukah 5:2-3 — Rav Tzadok identifies Aaron's attribute with the holiness of the Oral Torah and explains that Greek wisdom opposed it: “The essence of the wisdom of the Oral Torah is that wisdom become established in the heart.” He then explains that Torah's intended purpose is humility, repentance, and good deeds, illustrating this through Abraham, Moses, Aaron, and David. This clarifies the present contrast: Torah wisdom takes root in a heart devoted to Hashem and changes the person who learns it. Intellectual attainment alone does not express that holiness.

61 Numbers 15:39 — “It shall be a fringe for you. You shall see it, remember all the commandments of Hashem, and perform them; you shall not stray after your hearts or after your eyes, after which you go astray.”

62 Psalms 14:1 — “For the conductor; of David. The fool has said in his heart: There is no God. They have acted corruptly and abominably; none does good.”

63 Berakhot 12b:22 — The baraita interprets “Do not stray after your hearts and after your eyes, after which you go astray” (Numbers 15:39). “‘After your hearts’ refers to heresy, as it says, ‘The fool has said in his heart: There is no God’ (Psalms 14:1). ‘After your eyes’ refers to thoughts of transgression, as it says, ‘Samson said to his father: Take her for me, for she is right in my eyes’ (Judges 14:3). ‘After which you go astray’ refers to idolatry, as it says, ‘The children of Israel again went astray after the Baalim’ (Judges 8:33).”

64 Deuteronomy 32:6 — “Is this how you repay Hashem, foolish and unwise people? Is He not your Father, who acquired you? He made you and established you.”

(Deuteronomy 32:6). They debase themselves, but not for the words of Torah; this is the folly that is truly the opposite of wisdom.

When desire overpowers wisdom

כִּי כָּל חָכְמָתָם לַהֲנָאַת גּוּפָם וְתַאֲוָתָם, וְנֶגֶד תַּאֲוָתָם לֹא יוֹעִיל כָּל חָכְמָה, שֶׁהֲרֵי בִּלְעָם, חָכָם שֶׁבְּאֻמּוֹת הָעוֹלָם וְהִשִּׂיג מַעֲלַת יִשְׂרָאֵל שֶׁהוּא לְאֵין קֵץ, וְעִם כָּל זֶה הִשִּׂיא עֵצָה לְהַכְשִׁילָם בִּזְנוּת, וְחָשַׁב מַחֲשָׁבוֹת לְקַלְקְלָם נֶגֶד רְצוֹן הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ, וְלֹא הוֹעִילָה לוֹ כָּל חָכְמָתוֹ וְהַשָּׂגָתוֹ נֶגֶד תַּאֲוַת לִבּוֹ הָרָעָה; — For all their wisdom serves their bodily pleasure and desire; against their desires, none of their wisdom avails. Balaam, a wise man among the nations, perceived Israel's boundless spiritual stature. Nevertheless, he advised causing them to stumble through sexual immorality, and devised plans to curse them against Hashem's will, blessed be He. All his wisdom and understanding availed him nothing against his heart's evil desire. וְהָרְשָׁעִים הֵם בִּרְשׁוּת לִבָּם (בְּרֵאשִׁית רַבָּה פָּרָשָׁה ל״ד), וְכָל חָכְמָתָם נִמְשָׁכָת אַחַר הַלֵּב רַע שֶׁלָּהֶם;[65,66] — The wicked are under the control of their hearts, as stated in Bereshit Rabbah, chapter 34, and all their wisdom follows their evil heart. אֲבָל יִשְׂרָאֵל, כָּל חָכְמָתָם הוּא רַק לִמְצֹא דֶּרֶךְ הָאֱמֶת, לַעֲשׂוֹת רְצוֹן שָׁמַיִם וְלִמְסֹר נַפְשָׁם וְגוּפָם לוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ. — Israel, however, directs all its wisdom solely toward finding the path of truth, fulfilling Heaven's will, and surrendering soul and body to Him, blessed be He.

Levi attachment and self-sacrifice

וְזֶהוּ שֹׁרֶשׁ הַקְּדוּשָּׁה דְּשֵׁבֶט לֵוִי דְּנִקְרָא לְשׁוֹן "יִלָּוֶה אִישִׁי" [בְּרֵאשִׁית כ״ט:ל״ד], הַיְינוּ הַדְּבֵקוּת בַּהַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ, שֶׁהוּא יִחוּד קֻדְשָׁא בְּרִיךְ הוּא וּשְׁכִינְתֵּיהּ, דְּיַעֲקֹב אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, צוּרַת אָדָם שֶׁעַל הַכִּסֵּא, שֹׁרֶשׁ שֶׁהוּא יִחוּד קֻדְשָׁא בְּרִיךְ הוּא וּשְׁכִינְתֵּיהּ, דְּיַעֲקֹב אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם, צוּרַת אָדָם שֶׁעַל הַכִּסֵּא, שֹׁרֶשׁ שֶׁם הַוָי"ה כַּנּוֹדָע;[67] — This is the root of the holiness of the tribe of Levi, whose name expresses "my husband will become attached to me" (Genesis 29:34): attachment to Hashem, blessed be He. This is the unification of the Holy One, blessed be He, and His Divine Presence, associated with our father Jacob, peace be upon him, the likeness of the human figure upon the Throne and the root of the Divine Name Havayah, as is known. וְעַל כֵּן כְּשֶׁאָמַר מֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם "מִי לַה' אֵלָי" [שְׁמוֹת ל״ב:כ״ו], קָרְבוּ אֵלָיו כָּל בְּנֵי לֵוִי, שֶׁהֵם כֻּלָּם לַה', וְכֵן עָשׂוּ לְמָסֹר נַפְשָׁם עַל קִדּוּשׁ הַשֵּׁם בַּמָּה שֶׁהָרְגוּ לַחוֹטְאִים, וְלֹא נִתְיָרְאוּ מִכָּל יִשְׂרָאֵל שֶׁיָּקוּמוּ נֶגְדָּם, וּכְמוֹ שֶׁנִּתְיָרֵא אַהֲרֹן;[68] — Therefore, when Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, said, "Whoever is for Hashem, come to me!" (Exodus 32:26), all the sons of Levi drew near to him, for they were all devoted to Hashem. They likewise risked their lives to sanctify His Name by killing the sinners, without fearing that all Israel would rise against them, as Aaron had feared.

65 Bereshit Rabbah 34:10 — "The wicked are under the control of their hearts," as illustrated by "The fool said in his heart," "Esau said in his heart," "Jeroboam said in his heart," and "Haman said in his heart." "But the righteous have their hearts under their control," as illustrated by Hannah speaking "over her heart," David speaking "to his heart," and Daniel resolving "upon his heart." The contrast is between being governed by the heart's impulses and governing the heart.

66 Shiur discussion: Moshe, Bilaam, and the donkey — Maharal, Gevurot Hashem 29, interprets riding as standing above materiality and applies it to Avraham, Moshe, and Mashiach. In Derekh Chayim 5:19 he contrasts Avraham's separation from materiality with Bilaam's attachment to it. These are the sources behind the shiur's image. "The donkey rode Bilaam" is a metaphor in the discussion; the Torah itself says that Bilaam rode his donkey (Bamidbar 22:21–22).

Gevurot Hashem 29:6 — דע, כי כל רכיבה הוא מורה על שהרוכב נבדל מן אשר רוכב עליו ומתעלה עליו, כי מאחר שהוא רוכב עליו, מתנשא עליו, ואינו מצורף עם אשר הוא רוכב עליו. — "Every riding signifies that the rider is distinct from what he rides and rises above it."

67 Genesis 29:34 — "She conceived again and bore a son. She said: Now, this time, my husband will become attached to me, for I have borne him three sons. Therefore his name was called Levi."

68 Exodus 32:26 — "Moses stood at the entrance to the camp and said: Whoever is for Hashem, come to me! All the sons of Levi gathered to him."

Aharon and his love for Israel at the Golden Calf

וְהוּא עָשָׂה זֶה לֹא מִפְּנֵי שֶׁלֹּא רָצָה חַס וְשָׁלוֹם לְמָסֹר נַפְשׁוֹ, רַק מִצַּד הַבִּינָה יְתֵרָה שֶׁבְּלִבּוֹ, כְּמוֹ שֶׁאָמְרוּ מִזְּבוּחַ וְכוּלֵי (סַנְהֶדְרִין ז׳ ריש עמוד א׳ עַל פָּסוּק "וַיִּבֶן מִזְבֵּחַ" — מִזְּבוּחַ מִמַּשֶּׁהוּ זָבוּחַ),[69] — Aaron acted as he did not because he was unwilling, Heaven forbid, to give up his life, but because of the greater understanding within his heart. As Sanhedrin 7a explains on "He built an altar": he understood from the one slaughtered before him, and so forth. כִּי הוּא שׁוּשְׁבִינָא דְּמַטְרוֹנִיתָא (זֹהַר חֵלֶק ג׳ נ״ג עמוד ב׳), שֶׁעַל יְדֵי זֶה זָכָה לִהְיוֹת הַשּׁוֹרֵשׁ לְתוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה, כְּמוֹ מֹשֶׁה רַבֵּנוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם שׁוּשְׁבִינָא דְּמַלְכָּא לְתוֹרָה שֶׁבִּכְתָב;[70] — For he is the attendant of the Queen (Zohar III, 53b). Through this he merited to become the root of the Oral Torah, just as Moses our teacher, peace be upon him, is the attendant of the King in relation to the Written Torah. וּמֵרֹב אַהֲבַת יִשְׂרָאֵל אָמַר: מוּטָב יִתָּלֶה הַסְּרִחוֹן בִּי (וַיִּקְרָא רַבָּה פָּרָשָׁה י׳), שֶׁהוּא לֹא רָצָה לְמָסֹר נַפְשׁ;[71] — Out of his great love for Israel he said, "Better that the blame attach to me" (Vayikra Rabbah, chapter 10); for this reason he did not choose to give up his life. וְעַל יְדֵי זֶה דַּוְקָא זָכָה לִכְהֻנָּה שֶׁהוּא הַבְדָּלָה לְקֹדֶשׁ קָדָשִׁים כַּנִּזְכָּר לְעֵיל.[72] — It was precisely through this that he merited priesthood, which is a setting apart as holy of holies, as explained above.

Devotion beyond personal calculation

וְזֶהוּ הַקְּדוּשָׁה דְּשֵׁבָט לֵוִי: "הָאֹמֵר לְאָבִיו וּלְאִמּוֹ לֹא רְאִיתִיו" [דְּבָרִים ל״ג:ט׳], שֶׁהָיָה בְּפֹעַל כַּנִּזְכָּר לְעֵיל;[73] — This is the holiness of the tribe of Levi: "Who said of his father and mother, 'I have not seen him'" (Deuteronomy 33:9). This was put into practice, as explained above. וּבִפְנִימִיּוּת הַלֵּב יָדוּעַ דְּאַבָּא וְאִמָּא הֵם חָכְמָה וּבִינָה, הַיְינוּ שֶׁאֵין מַשְׂגִּיחַ בְּחָכְמָה וּבִינָה שֶׁלּוֹ שֶׁהֵם הַנִּקְרָאִים אָבִיו וְאִמּוֹ דַּוְקָא בְּמַה שֶׁהוּא נֶגֶד רְצוֹן הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרַךְ, דְּ"אֵין חָכְמָה וְאֵין תְּבוּנָה... לְנֶגֶד ה'" [מִשְׁלֵי כ״א:ל׳], וְלִבָּם בִּרְשׁוּתָם;[74] — In the heart's inner meaning, as is known, father and mother are Chochmah and Binah, Wisdom and Understanding. A person disregards his own wisdom and understanding—called his father and mother—specifically where they conflict with the will of Hashem, blessed be He. For "There is no wisdom and no understanding ... against Hashem" (Proverbs 21:30); their hearts are under their own control. וְזֶהוּ שֹׁרֶשׁ לְכָל הַקְּדֻשׁוֹת הַנִּמְשָׁכוֹת מִלֵּב הַקָּדוֹשׁ לִהְיוֹת נוֹבֵעַ חָכְמָה דִּקְדוּשָׁה. — This is the root of all the forms of holiness that flow from a holy heart, causing holy wisdom to well forth. וְהַחִסָּרוֹן

69 Sanhedrin 7a:3 — Rabbi Tanchum bar Chanilai applies the verse under discussion to the incident of the Calf: "'Aaron saw, and he built an altar before it' (Exodus 32:5). What did he see? Rabbi Binyamin bar Yefet said in the name of Rabbi Elazar: He saw Hur slaughtered before him." The exposition hears vayaven, "he understood," and mizavuach, "from the one slaughtered," within the words describing Aaron's building of the altar. Hur had opposed the Calf and had been killed; Aaron understood the danger confronting the people.

70 Zohar III, 53b; Metzora 7 — "Come and see the difference between Moses and Aaron: which is higher? Moses is higher. Moses is the attendant of the King; Aaron is the attendant of the Queen. It is like a king with an exalted queen, for whom he appoints an attendant to prepare her and attend to the affairs of her household. When that attendant enters before the king, he enters only with the queen. Thus it is written, 'With this shall Aaron enter,' and so forth (Leviticus 16:3)."

71 Vayikra Rabbah 10:3 — Aaron says: "If they build it, the blame will attach to them. Better that the blame attach to me rather than to Israel." The Midrash compares him to a prince's guardian who takes responsibility to protect the king's son. The king recognizes his intention and rewards him with a place in the palace, food from the royal table, and twenty-four allowances. These correspond to Aaron's sanctuary service and the twenty-four priestly gifts. Hashem says to Aaron: "You loved to vindicate My children and hated to condemn them"; therefore, from Levi's tribe, Aaron is chosen for the high priesthood. This supplies the connection between his self-sacrificing love of Israel and his priesthood.

72 Pri Tzaddik, Shemini 4 — Rav Tzadok explains that Aaron's willingness to let the blame rest upon himself also made his own atonement inseparable from the people's. If Israel had not been atoned for, the charge against him would still have remained: "Why have you brought a great sin upon them?" Accordingly, Aaron's offering atoned both for himself and for the people. Rav Tzadok concludes that he was chosen as the priest who atones "to repair everything at its root, so that it become very good." This develops the present connection between Aaron's love of Israel and his priestly power to repair its failures.

73 Deuteronomy 33:9 — "Who said of his father and mother, 'I have not seen him'; he did not recognize his brothers and did not acknowledge his children. For they kept Your word and guarded Your covenant."

74 Proverbs 21:30 — "There is no wisdom, no understanding, and no counsel against Hashem."

דְּ"זֶה לְעֻמַּת זֶה" וּקְלִפָּה הַחוֹפֶפֶת הוּא: "אָרוּר מַקֵּלֶה אָבִיו וְאִמּוֹ" [דְּבָרִים כ״ז:ט״ז], שֶׁעוֹשֶׂה אוֹתוֹ הַדָּבָר עַצְמוֹ שֶׁלֹּא לִכְבוֹד שָׁמַיִם וְאָז הוּא אָרוּר בָּזֶה וְרָע;[75] — The corresponding deficiency, the surrounding kelipah, is "Cursed is one who treats his father and mother with contempt" (Deuteronomy 27:16). He does that very same thing, but without intending Heaven's honor; then, on the contrary, he becomes accursed and evil through it.

וְזֶהוּ בִּפְנִימִיּוּת הַלֵּב כְּשֶׁנִּמְשָׁךְ אַחַר הָרַע לְבַזּוֹת הַחָכְמָה וּבִינָה דִּקְדוּשָׁה שֶׁמִּזֶּה נִמְשָׁךְ כָּל מִינֵי רַע, וְזֶהוּ הַחָכְמַת יְוָנִית שֶׁרָצוּ לְהַשְׁכִּיחַ חַס וְשָׁלוֹם עַל יְדֵי זֶה הַתּוֹרָה. — In the heart's inner meaning, this occurs when one is drawn after evil and disparages holy Chochmah and Binah, from which every kind of evil follows. This is the Greek wisdom through which they sought, Heaven forbid, to make Israel forget the Torah.

Chanukah light returning wisdom to its source

וְנִצָּחוּם הַכֹּהֲנִים הַקְּדוֹשִׁים וְזֶרַע אַהֲרֹן שׁוֹרֶשׁ חָכְמַת הַתּוֹרָה שֶׁבְּעַל פֶּה, וְקָבְעוּ שְׁמוֹנָה יְמֵי חֲנֻכָּה; — But the holy priests, Aaron's descendants, the root of the wisdom of the Oral Torah, defeated them and established the eight days of Chanukah. וְיָדוּעַ דְּיֵשׁ שִׁבְעַת יְמֵי הַבִּנְיָן שֶׁהֵם שֶׁבַע תַּחְתּוֹנוֹת, וְהַשְּׁמִינִי הוּא הַבִּינָה שֶׁבַּלֵּב שֶׁמִּמֶּנָּה נִמְשָׁךְ כָּל הַמִּדּוֹת דְּשֶׁבַע תַּחְתּוֹנוֹת שֶׁהֵם כּוֹלְלִים שֶׁלֹּשׁ עֶשְׂרֵה: — As is known, there are seven days of construction, corresponding to the seven lower sefirot. The eighth is Binah within the heart, from which all the attributes of those seven lower sefirot flow. Together they encompass thirteen: הַיְינוּ שֶׁבַע מֵעֵילָּא לְתַתָּא, וְאַחַר כָּךְ חוֹזֵר הַמַּיִין נוּקְבִין מִתַּתָּא לְעֵילָּא וְהֵן שֵׁשׁ; — seven descending from above to below, followed by the return of the mayin nukvin, the feminine waters of awakening, from below to above, which are six. וּבְמִצְוַת הַדְלָקַת הַנֵּרוֹת מַמְשִׁיכִים חָכְמָה תַּתָּאָה הַקְּדוֹשָׁה מִמַּטָּה לְמַעְלָה עַד הַבִּינָה שֶׁבַּלֵּב, לִהְיוֹת הַכֹּל בִּקְדוּשָׁה].[76] — Through the commandment of kindling the lights, we draw the holy lower Wisdom upward, from below to the Binah within the heart, so that everything may be in holiness.

75 Deuteronomy 27:16 — "Cursed is one who treats his father or mother with contempt. And all the people shall say: Amen."

76 Likkutei Maamarim, Siyyum HaShas 11 — "The oil of the cruse itself is the depth of the beginning itself; the kindling is the illumination and extension to all the levels of wisdom that follow it, to illuminate everything." There Rav Tzadok describes illumination flowing from the hidden source into the subsequent levels; here he describes lower Wisdom ascending toward Binah in the heart. These are complementary directions of the light's movement. Mei HaShiloach I, Shabbat 21b:3 — The Ishbitzer gives the corresponding language of service: the Chanukah lamp should "illuminate every step that is intended for the sake of Heaven." He explains Hillel's increasing lights as the continuing spread of holiness, through which the dross falls away. This supplies a practical expression of the maamar's closing aim, "that everything be in holiness."
